DNA content of chromosomes is often analyzed by flow cytometry (FCM). However, FCM requires chromosome harvesting from the cell. To overcome this drawback, we developed a new method to analyze DNA content of chromosomes in situ by the method of DAPI and immunofluorescence staining. The method is based on the principle that DNA content is reflected by the fluorescence intensity of DAPI. To apply this method to human chromosomes, we used anti-chromomycin A3 monoclonal antibody (mAb). DAPI and mAb were successively stained and chromosomes were counterstained with DAPI. It was confirmed that the two-color staining method provides a means to detect DNA content of chromosomes in situ.We've been through a lot together. Through changing age groups, this generation will be able to hear the song. To have a different flavor from the way we handle things, with grace and good works. The Lord will bless you as you honor Him with your choice of the Lord's Supper. The Lord is not a man that He should lie, nor a son of man that He should change His mind. Also to use the old traditional liturgy, where there are a lot of hymns that you can just recite. You'll be giving that up. That just won't be part of your life. There are so many ways to serve the Lord, just by sitting there. If it comes down to a church versus a congregation, then there are times that we'll choose to come here. You will have to make changes and sacrifices in order to be the Lord's disciple. The Christian life is a life of radical separation from the world, radical obedience, radical care for the other, radical prayer, radical sacrifice, radical perseverance 82157476af
